Information for Employers in Africa

ABOUT GRADLINK

GradLink is the UK's award-winning careers site for international students.

GradLink is a completely free service for all, including employers.

Receiving thousands of visitors daily, GradLink is produced for international students at all universities across the UK by the University of the West of England (UWE Bristol).

GradLink covers nine regions globally, including Africa.

GradLink provides employers in Africa with a free one-stop portal for recruiting Africa graduates from the UK's top 100 universities – including Oxford, Cambridge and London.

Employers in Africa can use GradLink to:

- Search the CVs of Africa students and graduates who have studied at the top 100 UK universities
- Be notified of the best students and graduates suited to your recruitment needs
- Advertise your vacancies and internship opportunities to thousands of students and graduates (both fresh and experienced).

“GradLink is an incredibly useful resource for international students. Being able to direct them to an up to date source of careers advice and job adverts is a real bonus.”

YOUR OWN BRANDED SECTION

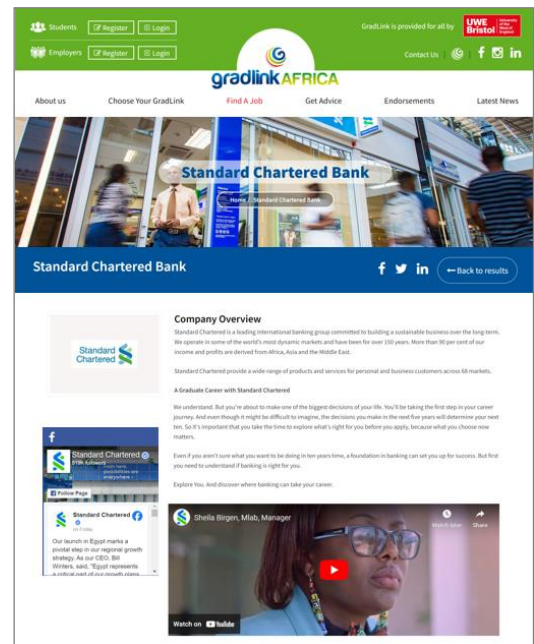

Employers can have their own branded section on GradLink, where you can give an overview of your company, link to key careers pages on your site, advertise jobs and internships, and more.

Any advertised roles can link directly through to the vacancy pages on your site. Alternatively, we can set up an RSS feed.

In addition, you can use your dashboard to search our database of CVs for students and graduates from over 100 UK universities – all completely free of charge.

AFRICA EMPLOYERS ON GRADLINK

Includes: EY, KPMG, PwC, Standard Chartered, Etisalat, Diageo, Shell, Britam, and many more!

“GradLink offers the missing platform for African students to return home after completing their courses abroad.”
